Aurora Library Board Seeks Own Quarters

Aurora—A request from the Aurora public library board for the municipality to acquire the present building occupied by the library board was held over by the Aurora town council until the library board meets with the Aurora town planning committee.

"We are meeting with the library board next week and the planning committee may have some other ideas on location to discuss with the library board," said Councilor Charles Davies. "If the library is to stay where it is, something will have to be done about the heating system. It is inadequate now," said Councilor Stewart Patrick. "The board wants to manage the building themselves. They think they will get better results that way," said Councilor Vic Jones.

Councilor Davies reported from the town planning committee that a plan for a new street submitted by George Lawson had not been approved by the committee due to its location. "We

"I know the planning committee is anxious to eliminate jogs and dead-end streets but I would think they would make a recommendation as to what should be done in place of a negative report," said Councilor Thomas Swindle.

"When an official plan is filed we will note any objections or approve it for council to deal with. We are only an advisory body," said Councilor Davies.

Thirteen new maple trees have been planted in various areas throughout town and all are coming on nicely, Councilor Patrick reported. The Aurora Horticultural Society will be asked to care for the trees in the future. Total cost involved was $7.10, it was stated.

Charged With Theft, Held In Don Jail Without Bail

Newmarket—George Maclean, 22, a driver for Cousins Dairy, Newmarket, is being held without bail at the Don Jail, Toronto, this week following his arrest on suspicion of robbery with violence. Maclean lives at 18 Cotter St., Newmarket. He was arraigned in magistrate's court here Friday.

Robert Dempsey, 17, Lansing, told police he was driving north to Bradford on No. 11 highway on Thursday and had picked up a hitch-hiker, whom he had dropped off at Bradford. He said he told the man he would be returning south in a few hours and was asked for a lift on the return trip as well. Dempsey said he agreed to watch for the man and picked him up later at night while driving through the Holland marsh.

"He told me he had difficulty in walking and offered me a dollar to drive him to his home in Glenville. I agreed to take him to his home but refused the dollar," Dempsey told police. "When we passed the Glenville pond he suddenly struck me in the face and beat me about the head and made off with my wrist watch."

Despite injuries, Dempsey managed to make his way to a farmhouse to notify police and

GEO. D. BENDER SELLS CASKET BUSINESS HERE

Newmarket—George D. Bender, owner of George D. Bender Casket Manufacturing Co., has sold his business to Arthur Carson and Douglas Banks, both of Toronto but formerly from New Zealand. The firm name has been changed with the sale to Bender Caskets Ltd.

Mr. Bender entered the casket business in Newmarket as a partner of Norman Dorland in 1938 at the site later used by Quinlan Hassocks Ltd. He went into business on his own in 1941, using part of the Dixon Pencil Co. building for his plant. He built on the present site in 1943, adding a new addition to it last year.

A member of Newmarket high school board and active in public affairs, Mr. Bender, his wife and son, Blair, will continue to live in Newmarket.

Mr. Carson, who will be the manager of the firm in Newmarket, has secured an apartment and has moved his wife and six-year-old son here. Mr. Carson came to Canada in 1930 and spent a year in Vancouver before moving to Toronto. He left his native country for Canada to add to his experience in the furniture trade. Mr. Banks came to Canada in 1923.

Lions Park Program For Children Begins

Newmarket—On Monday afternoon, the summer recreation program of the Newmarket Lions club got underway at the Lions' park, with Tom McFale, 18, as chief supervisor, assisted by Audrey Rowland, 17, Arleen McTavish, 17, Marilyn Prosser, 16, and Bill Hillaby, 14. Tom is a second year pass arts student at the University of Toronto, while his assistants are all students of Newmarket high school.

Purpose of the program, according to Audrey Rowland, is "to keep the children off the streets, to give them something to do, to teach them new games and help them make new friends, and to give their mothers a break. The children start coming to the grounds at about 1 p.m., and they stay as late as 5 p.m. At that time all the equipment is gathered up and the last child sent home."

The supervised programs will continue at least until August 15. Equipment has already been provided for volleyball, handball, softball, croquet, and polo, with slides, teeters, and sandboxes for the younger children, while equipment for basketball, and a pony "ride" are expected to arrive at the grounds shortly. On Tuesday over 100 children were present at the grounds.

CAESARIAN NEEDED FOR LITTER OF 13

Aurora—A 60-pound two-year-old mother made local dogdom history on Friday when she gave birth to a litter of 13 boxer puppies. The mother, a registered boxer named Astoria of Cheslan, is owned by William Morris, Aurora, and is of royal canine blood. One of her ancestors was the great Sir Galahad of Bladac. Ten of the puppies are still alive and feeding and according to Dr. Herbert Reuther, Newmarket, are doing well.

Dr. Reuther received the call from the Kestdale Kennels, where Astoria was "lying in," early in the morning and by noon seven of the puppies had been delivered naturally. It was not until 9 p.m. that Dr. Reuther received a second rush call and aided and abetted by Gertrude Pollock, Reg. N., whom Dr. Reuther had called to aid in the emergency, a Caesarian operation was performed. An incision six inches long was required to deliver the other six "young 'uns," but by 10 p.m. all was over and Astoria of Cheslan was proudly washing her babies.

Dr. Reuther attributes the success of the operation to "Miss Pollock's flawless assistance and to the post-operative care of Miss Saunders of Kestdale Kennels." He said the boxer is a popular dog in Germany where the breed originated but that it is comparatively rare and valuable in Canada. "The breed is supposed to be a cross between a bull dog and a smooth terrier," he said.

Truck Hit By Train On Water St. Crossing

Newmarket—A truck owned by Jack Bronfman, Toronto merchant, was badly damaged when struck by a train at the Water St. crossing here last night shortly after 7 p.m. None of the three occupants of the truck were injured.

Riding with Bronfman in the cab of the truck were David Elong, Toronto, and an unidentified man called "Fred" who was said to have been the driver. "Fred" was last seen shortly after the accident running east on Water St. and so far has not been found by police.

According to Chief Constable Ronald Watt, who investigated, the truck went east on Water St. and started up the hill. Part way up, the truck stalled and the driver let it coast backwards down hill until it came to the tracks where the right rear wheel became blocked against the east-bound rail.

With the truck unable to proceed either ahead or backwards, the three occupants got out of the cab shortly before the C.N.R. freight train reached the crossing. The train, which had slowed for a stop in Newmarket, struck the truck at the right rear wheel and slewed it about, wrecking the body of the truck and strewn its load of merchandise along the right-of-way.

Little damage was done to the train which continued after a short delay. Wm. Gibson, Toronto, and W. J. E. Gordon, Toronto, were engineer and conductor respectively of the train. The truck was towed to Tom Birrell's garage.

Boy On Bicycle Collides With Car On Way To Wedding

Newmarket—Trevor Shier, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shier, 78 Prospect St., is unconscious in Toronto Western hospital with a compound fracture of the skull, suffered when he was in collision with a car driven by Stan Evans, Newmarket, while delivering groceries on his bicycle. It was feared at first that the youngster had also sustained internal injuries, but subsequent examinations revealed that cuts and bruises were his only other injuries. Reports from the hospital indicate that the lad is doing better than was expected.

Mr. Evans, accompanied by Cliff Gunn and Ken Broughton, was on the way to the church for his wedding when the accident occurred shortly before two p.m. on Saturday. He rushed the youngster to York County hospital immediately, and Trevor was later transferred to the Western hospital at Toronto.

Shier was returning to the Red and White Store, where he is employed, after delivering an order to the home of Dr. W. O. Noble, 23 Victoria St., and had just turned east on Botsford St. when the collision took place. The bicycle was wrapped around the right front fender of the car, and young Shier was thrown up over the hood and against the windshield, which was shattered.

Chief Constable Ronald Watt said no charges have been laid.

Many of them find it hard to learn English, others are hard to teach. The ones who do know how to speak English are good but we do not want too many who cannot speak English."

REPORTS ASSAULT
Newmarket—A woman reported being attacked by an unidentified assailant on Joseph St. Tuesday night. WHAT ABOUT MEMORIAL SITE?

What is to become of the property expropriated by the Newmarket town council as the site for the proposed municipal auditorium? A promised statement by Mayor Joseph Vale some weeks ago has not yet been made and the public is left completely in the dark as to the future of the site.

Under normal circumstances, the value of the expropriated land would have been established at a formal hearing soon after the expropriation proceedings had been begun. The council would then have had a designated period to accept or reject the price set on the land. If the latter, the land would be returned to the owners free of any restrictions. As it is, no date has been set for a hearing and the property remains in a state of suspension—the town doesn't own it but the owners can't sell it nor improve the property with any guarantee that they will not be wasting their time and money.

At the same time, there has been no official indication of the council's future plans for a memorial auditorium. The slim majority polled in favor of the proposed auditorium may represent a formal approval of the council's plans but no councillor would suggest that the vote majority represents town opinion—not with only a third of the eligible voters casting their ballots.

There is no reason why the issue should be considered closed, however, unless the council is prepared to adopt a "take it or leave it" attitude towards the public. There is nothing to prevent the council from starting afresh with an alternative proposal, one more in keeping with the wishes of the electorate. While the vote may have cancelled out the council's proposal for a municipal auditorium, it by no means cancelled out the need for it. The same conditions which led up to the vote still exist. Newmarket lacks adequate auditorium facilities just as much now as before the vote, and the town hall continues to be just as much a disgrace. As a matter of fact, if the members of council spoke sincerely when they condemned the lack of a suitable auditorium before the vote, they can do no less than offer an alternative suggestion.

If, however, the council feels there are more pressing obligations, such as the need for additional parking space, or even holding the land for future incorporation into a second main street as proposed by councillor H. J. Luck, they should be considered at an early date. The uncertainty that at present exists is not fair to the owners of the land involved. The lack of council action is another example of the need for a planning commission which could undertake a study of the uses the land might be put to and makes its recommendations to council.

THESE "FLYING SAUCERS"

These reports about the "flying saucers" sound more like North America's answer to the Loch Ness sea monster than an invasion from Mars, heavenly phenomena, and radio-controlled missiles that they have been variously called. The Loch Ness monster was reported again not long ago so it may be that hemispheric pride was stung and the "flying saucers" is the result.

Certainly the "flying saucers" has excited more interest than Scotland's darning. Even the Australians have become upset about it although a professor Down Under has proven most unco-operative. This professor took his class outside one bright sunny day and told them to stare at a fixed point in the sky. In a few moments the students were reporting all sorts of "flying saucers". Sure, said the professor, they are red corpuscles carried by the bloodstream in front of the retina of the eye. From the sound of it, the "flying saucers" testify more in favor of the blood count of North Americans than their sanity.

Now we are not discounting the possibility that there may be "flying saucers" because some perfectly reputable people report seeing them including an eye specialist and his staff, and one never knows what the scientists will be up to next. As a matter of fact, several inventors have rushed forward with the word that the "flying saucers" resemble in all details inventions that they submitted to the government years ago so the idea for the things has been floating around long enough for people to become used to it.

Whatever they are, the "flying saucers" have provided an illuminating demonstration of how quickly mass hysteria will spread. The climax comes with the report of one man rushing to phone the news that one of the saucers landed in his back yard after a neighbor had playfully tossed a cardboard picnic plate over the fence. There's politics involved too. One contemporary suggests that the flying saucers are really the plates for the "pie in the sky" so freely promised by present day politicians.

RECREATION DIRECTOR NEEDED

Planned community recreation enters into its second year in Newmarket under a somewhat different form from what its earlier supporters visualized, but still very much in existence. The original recreation council, composed of representatives of organized recreation in Newmarket and financed for the most part by contributions from industry and individuals and funds raised by recreation council activities, has been supplanted by a recreation commission set up by municipal by-law. Its purpose is still the same—to provide organized community recreation for all ages—as is its chief handicap, lack of municipal financial support.

In its first year, the recreation council received a $500 grant from the town council. This year, the grant was about the same with this difference, that the town council is making its routine grants in the field of recreation through the recreation commission enabling the commission to collect on provincial grants which are made on a percentage of recreation council expenditures. Even with this recognition by the municipal council that there is a place for a recreation body, however, the way of the recreation commission remains hard and thorny.

Its limited budget leaves little money save for expenditures on playing fields and the purchase of equipment. Certainly, there are no funds for the employment of a recreation director without which organized recreation can make little headway. It was quite evident during the first year that a full time man was required to direct and co-ordinate recreation programs. Members of the recreation commission, no matter how enthusiastic, are not in a position to personally direct such work and without that direction, little can be accomplished.

In other municipalities, both larger and smaller than Newmarket, the need for a full-time, trained recreation director has been recognized and such a man employed from funds granted by the municipality to the recreation commission, or else employed directly by the municipality. The salary averages $2,600 a year, not much more than 50 cents per capita for Newmarket.

Newmarket already pays approximately 20 percent of that cost in the form of a general grant to the recreation commission, a grant which need not be necessary if a full-time recreation director was employed. Organized recreation has proven its worth in Newmarket even in the short time that it has had. If it is to be continued with anything like success, the employment of a full-time man must be considered.

TO THE EDITOR

The Editor: Would you be good enough to examine and publish the following under the heading "A Casual Observation". In last week's issue, the writer noted, and with not a little interest, the results and promotions granted by the Newmarket public schools. Let us, for a minute, examine and compare, say, these results of only two, the Stuart Scott and King George listings. Let us look at the salient points: grade III to grade IV, Stuart Scott, 22; King George, 11; grade IV to grade V; Stuart Scott 17; King George 39.

What do the above figures mean? Through personal observation, the writer will go out on a limb to state that the raw material in each of the above schools was practically of equal calibre. Why then, the lack of a co-ordinated system for the two schools as a whole? Why does one school have at least ten of its pupils in one year go from grade III to grade V, whereas at the other, Stuart Scott, no such opportunity is granted.

Are these questions worthy of an answer—do we answer our children when questioned or leave them to guess? May I state also that it is a well known fact that children can hurt each other mentally and more cruelly than adults, but such would not have happened had there been the same opportunity for advancement given in each school.

It has been my firm conviction that one should not inter-fer in school matters, but when one is confronted with such double standards as herein portrayed, the matter should be brought into the open. The sand has already run out of the glass but possibly if we are vigilant we can save something out of the next batch of raw material.

Quo Vadis

THE COMMON ROUND

By HARRIET COLLVILLE

EPISODE 14

Editor's note: This is the third article by Mrs. Collville on the 50th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Women's Institutes at Guelph on June 18. Mrs. Collville is writing on episode 14 of the anniversary pageant.

I am giving episode 14 in full. In it, the foregoing episodes reach their climax and when Miss Lewis, who, by the way, looked very lovely in her flowing white robe, spoke, she issued a challenge to every institute member to "Face the future—Let There Be Light."

"That light still shines in hearts today, it guides us onward in the way."

"We, the daughters of the first Institute women, face the future with courage, determination and faith," she said.

"Truly, we treasure the past. The deeds and accomplishments of the women who have gone before. Their unselfish service, their sterling character, and their high ideals inspire us to go on."

Proud Heritage

"May we be worthy of our heritage. May we, the women of today, go on to greater things because these women lived, because they had a vision and because they built the foundation so straight, strong and true. Opportunities are boundless. Our organization knows no barrier of race, color, creed or politics. The women of various races, nationalities, political beliefs and religious beliefs are proving that we can work together harmoniously for the good of all mankind," she said.

"Through knowledge comes understanding and in understanding our neighbor, and in performing the neighborly acts of friendliness, kindness, tolerance and mutual help, we shall be a mighty force for world peace. This is our challenge—our opportunity! Through intelligent study and practical action we shall work together, putting service before self to bring the best for home and country." Our action now in our home, our home community, our world community will be a vital force in shaping our future destiny.

Enter New Era

"We enter a new era in the world's history as we stand on the threshold of a new institute half century. The success we attain and the influence we wield will depend upon the conduct of each individual as she takes her part. Each will contribute to the best of her ability. Each will strive through prayer, study and actions to better that best. Through family life, community enterprise and active interests in world affairs our women can give effective leadership."

"When we women of the world work together for the common good we can determine the direction of human history. Working Together"

"Neither guns, nor gold, nor governments can contribute as much as we, working together can do."

"We accept the challenge. We face the future with courage and faith," she concluded.

And so, the pageant, beautiful, informative and challenging, came to an end in a blaze of glory, as Harriett, narrators, Angels, Representatives of Canada and her provinces, of the first Institutes, of the country women of the world all led by Light, gathered on the stage.

Impressions Left

The costumes were very beautiful and true to period paying tribute to the producer, Mrs. Brownlow Card. The accompanying music, appropriate and dramatic, was the product of Mr. Horace Lapp's orchestra. The script, dignified and accurate, was by Patricia Card.

As we sought our bus—none the worse for its temporary illness—I mean the bus—not us—we may have been a little tired, but I think the feeling in most of our hearts was, that we had been part of an historical event, and that it was up to us—the present members of the Women's Institute, to play our parts, so that, in another 50 years, our work too, could be dramatized as having been a force for good, so potent that the whole world acknowledged its impact and its consequences.

Friends Hold Meeting At Pickering College

(This is the first of three articles on the yearly meetings at Pickering College. The remaining articles will appear in successive weeks.)

Newmarket—The yearly meetings of the Religious Society of Friends in Canada were held at Pickering College on the weekend of June 30. Present at the meetings were delegates from the Canada Yearly Conference (five years), the Canada Yearly Conference (conservatives) and the Genesee Yearly meeting.

George Fox founded the Society of Friends in England in 1647 as a protest against ceremonial worship and formal religion. Fox believed the ceremonies of the Catholic and Anglican churches were only symbols and that the people mistook the symbols for reality. Thus, the Friends have no stated or formal creed and have no formal ceremonies for baptism or communion services. Marriages do not require ministers but permission for a couple to become man and wife must be asked at least two months before the vows are taken. The couple arranges for a time and place of the wedding and for the presence of the required witnesses and vows similar to those in other churches are taken. The monthly meeting takes care, however, that the marriage is undertaken with a full sense of responsibility and divorce rates among Friends are low. Most marriages, however, take place in the usual manner.

Fox preached the omnipresence of the Holy Spirit and believed that men who possessed a single grain of truth would develop so that they could be brought to a saving knowledge of truth. The idea that the Holy Spirit is present in every man led to the philosophy of the "brotherhood of man" and thence to opposition to war.

Women As Equals

Among the Friends, women have always been recognized as the equals in every way of men and have always enjoyed the privilege of being ministers. The Friends' church was also the only one which, as a church, dared to oppose slavery. No member of the society was a slave owner in the southern states at the time of the American civil war. The society has been consistently opposed to war and its members have been leaders in the temperance movement.

The Friends also believe in the Inner Light—the direct revelation of God in the hearts of men, another belief or "principle" which led to their anti-war attitude.

There are questions worthy of an answer—do we answer our children when questioned or leave them to guess? May I state also that it is a well known fact that children can hurt each other mentally and more cruelly than adults, but such would not have happened had there been the same opportunity for advancement given in each school.

It has been my firm conviction that one should not inter-

UNION STREET

W.I. Meets

The ladies of Union Street Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Wilburn Beckett at 8 o'clock in the evening. President Mrs. Lillian Johnston occupied the chair. The roll-call, "What to pack in a picnic basket", brought forth a variety of suggestions. A letter acknowledging a contribution to the British Flood Relief Fund was read by the secretary. The girls of the Garden club provided an excellent program. The Diccman sisters, Catharine and Edith, sang a duet, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen, and a few bars of Beethoven with Mo. Betty Beckett gave a reading, The Old Straw Hat. A dialogue entitled Changes in the Institute in the Past 50 Years, was given by Ida Bartolin and Corinne Sedore. A hearty song with Mrs. Diccman at the piano was enjoyed by all. This was followed by a vegetable naming contest conducted by Mary Leitch with the winner being Mrs. Wm. Moulds. Evelyn English gave a reading, Mending Brother's Pants, and the Diccman sisters played a piano duet. Ida Bartolin gave a humorous reading, And So Did I. A fine display of craft, including dress-making, knitting, fancy work, art and shell jewelry was put on by the girls' Garden club and much credit is due their capable leader, Mrs. Irvine Rose, who is instructing the girls in this useful work. The meeting closed with O Canada and the hostesses, Mrs. F. Graham, Mrs. W. Rose, Mrs. J. Bartolin and Mrs. P. Cupples, served sandwiches, cookies and coffee.

BUSINESS

One of the small but important things that helps a man succeed is the ability to remember names.

When you call a man by his name you show an interest that strikes a responsive spark. He feels that he has registered with you and that, in your opinion, he is important. And it tends to stamp you as observant, alert and on the job.

The value of this habit in dealing with customers and people in higher positions is obvious. In fact, the principle can and should be applied to everyone we meet.

There is an almost magical difference in the effect of "Good morning!" and "Good morning, Mr. Ferris!"

Try improving your name-memory and see if it doesn't help to advance you in your career.

When you think of your future, think about Life Insurance, too. No other investment offers such an easy, systematic way to save. And the security it provides for your family brings priceless peace of mind.
These benefits are enjoyed by over four million policyholders in Canada.

Make Presentation
A presentation was made on Friday evening in the basement of the United church to Rev. J. McEwen who has resigned as pastor of the charge owing to ill health. Dora Kay read the address and Mr. E. Smith presented a purse of money. Rev. McEwen, who was taken by surprise, replied fittingly, after which a sing-song was held. The ladies served lunch and a social hour was spent.
Quiet Wedding
A quiet wedding was solemnized at the parsonage in Bolton on Saturday, June 28, when Miss Bernice Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Adair, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Thomson, Tottenham. Miss Gwen Adair, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Ken Thomson, brother of the groom, supported him.
Mrs. Anthony McCollum
Mrs. Anthony McCollum passed away at her home here on Thursday, June 26. She had been in failing health for some months but bore her suffering patiently. Her cheery face and disposition will be missed by all who knew her. The funeral was held on Sunday at the Anglican church at 2.30 p.m., Rev. F. V. Abbott taking charge of the service. The remains were laid to rest in Bolton Laurel Hill cemetery.
She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one sister, Mrs. Wm. Crawford, Kettleby, and one brother, Mr. B. Davis, Toronto. Friends attended the funeral from Toronto, Pennsylvania, Nashville, Bolton, Kilenburg, Woodbridge, Tottenham and Kettleby.

The War between Man and Nature

It has been said that while wars between men receive the greatest publicity, the most important war is one which goes on unceasingly between man and nature. In this struggle the "heavy artillery" supporting the farmer is scientific knowledge. This keeps disease-bearing pests under control and promotes healthy crops.

Your agricultural college or experimental farm has this knowledge—acquired by hard work, through day-to-day experiments conducted with infinite patience. That's why when you come up against a tough problem your agricultural college or experimental farm can usually help you find the correct answer . . . a service that is yours for the asking.

Important, too, is the service of money which is offered to farmers by this Bank. Our friendly managers are always willing to make loans to responsible farmers that will contribute to more profitable farming.

Blinding pain, constant throbbing can make life a misery. Many headaches may be caused by the failure of the kidneys to perform their normal duty of filtering poisonous wastes and excess acids from the blood. If kidneys fail and poisons remain in the system, headaches, backache, rheumatic pains, disturbed rest may often follow. DODD'S Kidney Pills help your kidneys clear out trouble-making poisons and excess acids so that you feel better—rest better—work better. Get Dodd's today. 142

by

"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

Inside information on factors underlying the general unrest prevailing throughout the post-war world was placed before members of the house in confidence at a secret session this week. It was the first closed session I have attended, although secret sessions were held several times in the war years. The fact that it was deemed advisable to hold a secret session should not unduly alarm our people, yet it should tend to emphasize the fact that we are living in a very troubled world, and that international conditions today are such as to challenge the very best effort of all nations and all peoples if we are to establish lasting peace. The reason for holding the secret session I think is best explained in the words of Prime Minister King who said: "There are some things in connection with the international situation at the present time which can be discussed privately but which it would not serve the interests of the world at large to discuss publicly at the moment".

Bennett Portrait

Widespread sorrow was expressed in Canada's capital when news was received of the death of Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada. Party lines were forgotten in paying tribute to a great Canadian. An impressive memorial service was held Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon in Chalmers United church and was attended by members of the Senate and House of Commons. A portrait of the former prime minister in the attire of an imperial privy councillor, the work of Kenneth Forbes, Toronto artist, will likely be hung in the Parliament Buildings here shortly, according to informed sources.

The Forbes portrait was painted from life and presented to Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in July, 1938, when he retired from the party leadership, as a gift from his party followers. Of late years the portrait has hung in Viscount Bennett's home, "Juniper Hill", Mickleham, Surrey, England.

It is believed that Viscount Bennett will have left the portrait in his will to the Parliament of Canada, particularly since it is the only portrait he ever had painted and because of the traditional practice to have portraits of Canadian prime ministers hung in the Parliament buildings.

Since Viscount Bennett's death this week, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen of Toronto becomes Canada's only living ex-prime minister. In this respect, Canada is like the United States where Herbert Hoover is now the only living ex-president.

Steps will likely be taken soon to have name plates attached to the oil portraits of Sir Robert Borden and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, hung on June 10 last in Confederation Hall of the parliament buildings as Canada's prime ministers in World Wars I and II.

Family Allowances
A total of $462,239,885, has been spent by the federal government on family allowances since July 1, 1945, when the allowance payments began, Health Minister Martin announced Tuesday.

He estimated the payments had been made on behalf of 3,600,000 children in some 1,600,000 Canadian homes. The payments average $72 a year for each child.

This month, on the second anniversary of the inauguration of family allowances in Canada, the results of a Gallup Poll on the question show three in every four Canadians approved the legislation.

Old Age Pension Bill

The house finally passed the Old Age Pension Bill providing for increases in old age pension payments and a waiving in general requirements for receipt of pension cheques. The final passage of the bill carried a government amendment lowering the age for pensionable blind from 40 to 21 years. The bill which now goes to the senate, also adds 60,000 to 85,000 other persons to those eligible for old age and blind pensions, modifies the restrictions on residence qualifications and increases the amount a pensioner may earn without suffering reduction of pension.

The dominion-provincial taxation agreement bill, which was given first reading in the commons this week, is so drafted as to be applicable to all provinces including Ontario and Quebec, the two which so far have refused to sign new agreements with the federal government.

In this, in principle, there is of course, nothing new. Ever since the final breakdown of the dominion-provincial discussions, the federal government had held open a standing offer to any or all provinces wishing to negotiate new individual agreements with it. One after the other, seven provincial administrations have seen fit to do so. By continuing to leave open that offer to Premiers Drew and Duplessis, the new legislation merely formalizes the existing state of affairs.

It is expected this session will conclude late Saturday and as this is likely my last report from Ottawa, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the people of North York for their very kind co-operation. The many letters I have received have been most helpful and much appreciated. After a short holiday following the session, I will be available at my office in Richmond Hill and I hope all who need my help will feel free to call upon me.

MARRITT KIN RESUME ANNUAL REUNIONS

The Marritt family picnic, held on the Sharon Temple grounds on Saturday, June 28, was the first reunion of the family since the early years of the war.

Isaac King, Bond Head, the retiring president, gave a special welcome in his remarks to the boys who had returned from overseas.

Arthur Morton, Thornhill, convenor of the sports committee, was in charge of a good sports program of races and games. Attractive prizes were given for the sports events.

Mrs. William King, Sr., and Lynn Morton, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morton, were also given prizes for being the oldest and youngest members of the family present.

The gathering, numbering nearly 100, was representative of the different branches of the family and came from many points in Ontario. Scott Marritt, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Marritt of New York State, attended from the U.S.A.

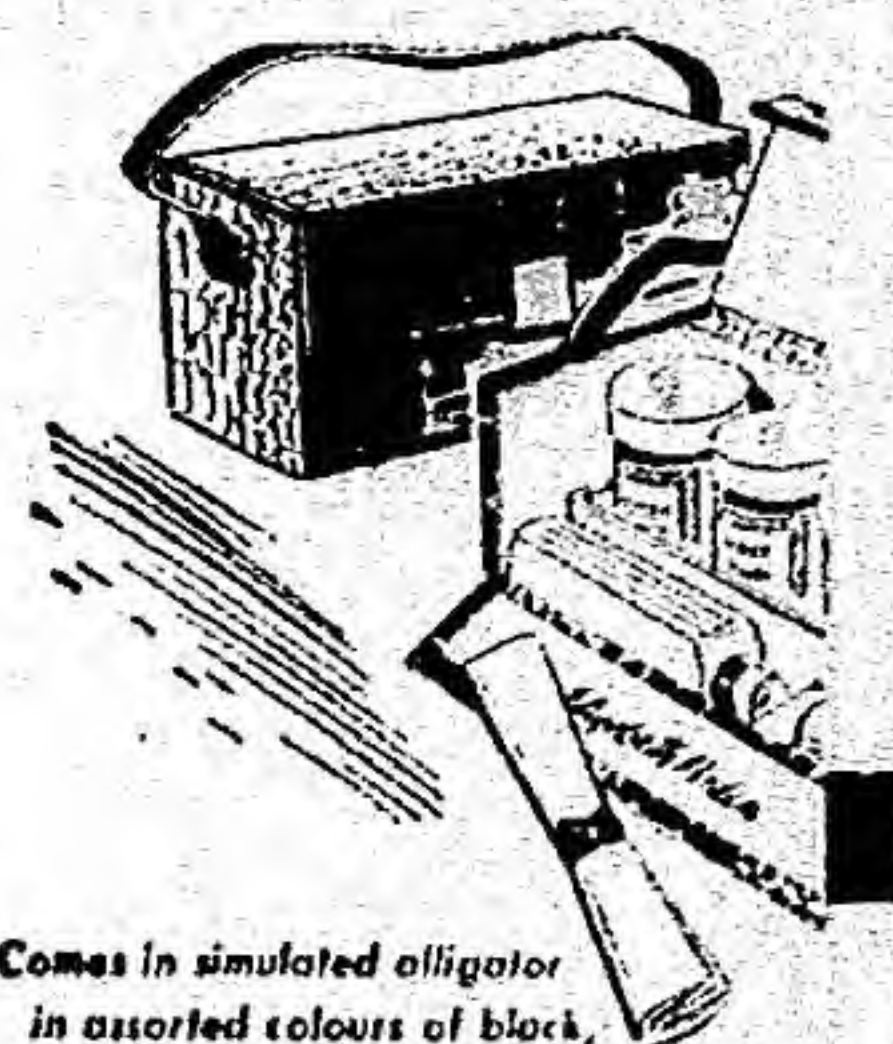

The executive for the coming year is Kenneth Morton, Newmarket, president, Milton Morton, Newmarket, secretary and F. F. Marritt, Keswick, treasurer.

Young Hopefuls

Teash Care, Don't Scold

Helen Jean is three years old. She accidentally breaks things around the house, but her parents are making every effort to teach her to handle things with care. Rather than criticize her for touching and handling objects, they give her an explanation of the use and purpose of each item.

One evening while visiting her aunt, Helen Jean noticed a nest of crystal ash trays on the glass-topped coffee table. She picked up each ash tray and one at a time set each down on the table. The larger one was a bit heavy by comparison and landed with some force and clatter.

Promptly, Helen Jean's father explained that the table top was glass and that the ash trays were also glass. He very nicely reminded her that glass would break. Helen Jean listened to all this with interest and, obviously, grasped the point intended.

Very carefully she picked up the three ash trays, placing them in order to form the nest. Then, without further directions or help from her parents, she crossed the room to her aunt. As she handed the ash trays to her aunt, she said, "Aunt Florence, put these away."

Thereupon, the aunt placed the ash trays on top of a tall bookcase. At the same time Helen Jean was asked if that would be a safe place. In answer, she went over to the telephone stand, removed the nest of ash trays from it, and carefully handed them to her aunt to place out of reach.

All young children are destructive; but, in the beginning, they are accidentally so. For one thing, they haven't the necessary control of their hands to handle fragile objects. Then too, they haven't learned to be careful. In this respect, they can be helped tremendously with gentle warnings.

It isn't necessary or wise to clear all table tops in the child's home; but, certainly, very special ornaments should be kept out of reach until the child has learned to be careful.

COUPLE TO LIVE IN WINNIPEG

Trinity United church, Newmarket, was the scene of the wedding of Audrey Melba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walker, who became the bride of Keith Stewart Wood, son of Mrs. Wood and the late B. Wood of Peterborough. Rev. Henry Cotton performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with spring flowers. The music was by Mr. H. G. Fowler. The soloist, Mr. Ed. Rowe, sang The Lord's Prayer and Through The Years.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Swiss eyelet with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice with full skirt, white lace hat and elbow length mittens. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Dorothy Miller, her only attendant, was in powder blue dress with matching accessories and carried a multi-colored nose gay.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Errol Handbridge. Messrs. Gordon Rowe and Robert Walker ushered.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Legion hall. The bride's mother wore pale blue sheer, navy accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Wood wore a two-piece floral silk jersey with matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

The young couple motored to Winnipeg via U.S.A. where they will reside.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rehill, Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rowe, Marion and Gordon Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Younger, Toronto and David Walker of London.

ST. JOHN'S SCENE OF JUNE RITES

St. John's Catholic church was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on June 28, when Martha Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Coorsen, became the bride of Dr. Joseph F. Morgan, son of Mr. J. P. Morgan of Vancouver. Rev. T. F. McCabe performed the ceremony, which was followed by the nuptial mass. The church was beautifully decorated with peonies and delphiniums and other early summer flowers.

The bride was crowned in ivory fascine crepe, fashioned in long torso lines with bouffant skirt and sweetheart neckline. She wore a finger-tip veil, falling from a halo of sweetpeas.

The matron of honor, Mrs. George Weber, wore a similar gown in maize but with puff sleeves and long mittens of the same material, and matching hat. She carried a nosegay of blue cornflowers surrounded by sweetpeas and daisies and other small summer flowers.

Mr. A. Poole, Toronto, was best man, while the ushers were Mr. George Weber of Toronto, and the groom's brother, Mr. James Morgan, who flew from Vancouver for the ceremony.

At the reception, held at Club 14, Millard Ave., the bride's mother received in pastel blue crepe, assisted by Mrs. J. Newton of Toronto, dressed in gray, both wearing corsages of talisman roses. The bride's going away dress was a two-piece suit of heaven blue jersey with white accessories, and corsage of rose buds.

Following the honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Morgan will make their home in Ottawa, where Dr. Morgan is attached to the Department of National Health and Welfare.

Guests were present from Toronto, Ottawa and Vancouver, besides their many friends in Newmarket.

HOLT GIRL WEDS IN MOUNT ALBERT

Miss Phyllis Mae Marles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Marles, Holt, became the bride of William Murray Pegg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pegg, Mount Albert, at Mount Albert parsonage on June 14. Rev. W. H. Burgess officiated.

The bride wore a street length dress of white silk jersey and white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Miss Audrey Marles, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, in pink silk jersey, white accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Irvin Marles, brother of the bride, was best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. For the wedding trip to Ottawa and Montreal, the bride wore a robin's egg blue gabardine suit, white accessories and a squirrel neck-piece. The happy couple will reside in Mount Albert.

RYE-STEWART KITES IN KESWICK

Baskets of tulips, snowballs and white spirea formed a colorful background in Keswick United church on Wednesday, June 18, when Rev. Gordon Lapp, assisted by Rev. Alford Abraham, London, brother-in-law of the groom, united in marriage Anne Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Rye, to Nelson Harper Stewart, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. Stewart, Belfast, Ireland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely. Her gown was of white satin with long, full train. Her sister's heirloom English veil of sequin trimmed tulle was caught to a head-dress of velvet calla lilies and she carried a shower bouquet of calla lilies.

Her sister, Mrs. Geo. Snelling, as matron of honor, was crowned in floor length peach corded taffeta and carried yellow roses and orchid sweetpeas, while her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Rye, was bridesmaid. She wore floor length orchid corded taffeta and carried yellow roses and sweetpeas. Both wore matching head-dresses. The two charming little flower girls, gowned alike in pink taffeta smocked in blue to the waist, and carrying matching nosegays were Carol Diane, sister of the bride, and Sally Elizabeth Brice, niece of the groom.

Mr. Norman Japp, Toronto, supported the groom. Messrs. Vernon Rye and Robt. Stewart were ushers.

Mrs. Harold Pollard was at the organ and Mrs. Marie Draper Lyons, cousin of the bride, sang "I'll Walk Beside You and Oh Promise Me."

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the Sunday-school rooms where the bride's table was centred by a tiered wedding cake, flanked by lighted candles.

Mrs. Howard Brice, in white eyelet with a corsage of roses, and Mrs. Jack Reid, in flowered jersey with corsage of roses, sisters of the groom, assisted Mrs. Rye who was in blue and a corsage of coral roses in welcoming the guests. Following the reception the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for North Bay and Honey Harbor. WEDS U.K. GIRL
The chancel of Leaside United church, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet ceremony on Saturday afternoon, July 5, at 4 o'clock, when Freda Doreen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Booth, Bradford, Yorkshire, England, was united in marriage to Gordon Morton Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Collins, Leaside, by Rev. H. A. Mellow. Organ music was played by Mr. D. G. Brown, Leaside.

The bride, who was given in marriage by the groom's father, Mr. Russell Collins, wore a graceful full length gown of white jersey with full pleated skirt and long illusion veil held by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Briar Cliff roses and white Canterbury Bells and was attended by Mrs. Jack Day, Ingersoll, sister (Jean) of the groom, who wore a long gown of sheer turquoise crepe with shirred bolero and halo of pink roses. Mrs. Day carried a cascade of deep pink roses, larkspur and pink sweet peas. The best man for the occasion was Mr. Charles M. English, a cousin of the bride and nephew of the groom's mother, from Washington, D.C.

The flowers in the church chancel were pink and white peonies with blue delphinium. The reception which followed was held at the home of the groom's parents at which the groom's mother received in a pale rose crepe dress with accessories of rose and white and corsage of dark pink roses.

For travelling, the bride wore a royal blue suit of French linen with white accessories and carried silver fox furs, her corsage being of gardenias. The young couple will reside in Leaside.

The groom's parents and grandparents were all Newmarket people and he was born in Orillia where Mr. and Mrs. Russell Collins moved in 1922. Of late years the family has been residing in Leaside. The groom enlisted and served in the signal corps overseas, after training at Newmarket camp. While in England he met his bride-to-be, who recently arrived from her home there. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Morton, who are now located at Glasgow Station in the Ottawa territory, were among the guests.

LIBRARY CORNER

By CAROLINE E. ION

Two new, interesting and informative books which have recently been added to the Newmarket public library are Picture Framing, by Edward London, and The Rug and Carpet Book, by Mildred Jackson O'Brien. The first is the long awaited answer to the novice's question, "How should I frame this picture correctly?" The beginner with no experience in wood-working will learn how to make and finish frames. Systematic instructions are given on every phase of framing and on remodelling second hand frames.

The necessary tools and equipment are discussed and professional information regarding the proper procedure is included in this book together with a list of supply sources. Marginal diagrams accompany each step in the execution of this craft and beautiful illustrations add greatly to its enjoyment.

Many times good paintings are framed incorrectly. This book aids in the selection of appropriate frames for all types of pictures — from oil paintings to pastels. The author, Edward London, who is director of the Little Gallery in Springfield, Mass., has made frames for museums. "Picture Framing" resulted from the difficulties encountered by the author, when first beginning this specialized craft, of finding authoritative information, and this book is highly recommended to anyone who has attempted to frame even an enlargement of a photograph as well as to the members of local art clubs.

The Rug and Carpet Book tells the fascinating history of rug making from the fabulous rugs of Persia to the twentieth century machine-made ones. The purchase of a floor covering is a major investment in most families and is probably one of the most important parts of any decorative scheme. To date a very limited supply of information on this subject has been available so that this book will be a welcome guide to all women buying a rug or carpet. Trade names, weaves and materials, as well as quality and price are fully discussed. The selection of a rug or carpet is dealt with from the decorative angle as well as from the practical and the particular problems of choosing floor coverings for each room in the house are carefully considered.

Armed with all the information from Mrs. O'Brien's book, the prospective purchaser will not confuse fashion for sound style. A chapter on the care of rugs and carpets completes the book which also includes 66 pages of illustrations.

Harvey Lane's Drug Store
100 Main St. "We Deliver" Newmarket

S. Evans acted for the accused in each case. Both men pleaded not guilty.

Albert S. G. Jong, Toronto, testified that he had been driving north with his wife and child and had reached a point on No. 11 highway approximately opposite St. Andrew's College when he saw a truck travelling south pull out to pass a car. "The truck pulled across the centre lane of the three-lane highway and into my lane," Jong said. "My car was sideswiped and $400 damage caused by the impact. I was in the right lane of the highway and his left front wheel was about a foot and a half over into my lane when the impact occurred. We were both doing about 35 miles an hour. My car travelled about five feet after the impact."

Jong said his child had been injured about the neck and he had required hospital treatment for a sprained neck. He said the northbound traffic had been light at the time of the accident and the highway was wide enough for two cars and a truck abreast. "My car was facing straight west after the impact and the front bumper was even with the east line on the road. Thought Car Would Turn Over

Grover Gage, Aurora, corroborated Jong's testimony. "I thought the car was going to turn over after it was hit," he said.

Provincial Constable William Melbourne testified that he had investigated the accident. "The left front tire of the truck was two feet over the east line on the road," he said. "I could not establish the point of impact."

Belko said he is a market gardener at Bradford. "The car ahead of me was going too slowly so I turned out into the centre lane to pass. I had just come abreast of the car I was passing when Jong's car turned out into the centre lane and hit me. I put the brakes on and the impact stopped the car." Belko's wife and 11-year-old daughter, Mary, corroborated his evidence.

Mr. Evans said that there were in the case two opposing stories. "Obviously either the car or the truck strayed across the line dividing the two lanes for a few seconds but there appears to be a real doubt concerning which driver was at fault and there is a civil suit pending to establish the blame. However, I feel that there is a real doubt as to whether the accused man was guilty of careless driving and the accused should receive the benefit of that doubt."

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong said that even if the stories of the two interested parties were discounted, there remained the evidence of Gage, whom he described as "a responsible witness in a position to see everything that happened." Magistrate Hollinrake agreed, and Belko was fined $25 and costs or ten days.

Says Car Clipped
Harold Gunn, Newmarket, testified that he had been driving on No. 11 highway south from Bradford when a car driven by William Ward had turned out to pass him, had clipped the rear end of his car and had then collided with a car coming from the other direction. Joseph Darraeh, Newmarket, a passenger in Gunn's car, corroborated the evidence.

Harry Clark, Toronto, testified that he had been driving north when Ward's car, coming from the opposite direction, turned out to pass Gunn. "Ward clipped Gunn's car and then plowed into me," he said. Edward S. Millet, Toronto, a passenger in Clark's car, corroborated. Both said they had been injured.

Ward said he was a partner in an insulation firm and had driven over 300,000 miles but that this was his first time in court. He said he had been driving south just south of Bradford and had not seen Gunn's car until he was only a few feet behind it because it did not have a tail light. He said that after the accident the tail light and license plate of the car could not be found. "When I was a few feet away I saw the car and swung out to avoid it," he said.

Provincial Constable T. H. Craig testified that he had investigated the accident and had been unable to find the tail light or license plate from Gunn's car. "There was evidence that the accused had been drinking," he said.

Ward was convicted and fined $50 and costs or one month.

Liquor In Cars
Carl Rischbrough, R. R. 1, Newmarket, Benjamin Cox, Newmarket, Robert Christensen, Toronto, Ross G. Clark, Agincourt, William E. Yardley, North Mount P.O., were each convicted of having liquor in their cars and were fined $10 and costs and the liquor confiscated. Constables Aubrey Fleury, Wm. Melbourne, Ivan Pattenden, Jack Lawrence and Ivan Pattenden laid the respective charges.

William Trent, Aurora, was convicted of causing a disturbance in the street at Aurora by swearing and being drunk. Chief Constable Fisher Dunham said he had investigated a complaint that a group of men were causing a disturbance. He said that when he found the group he told them to disperse and go home and all but Trent had done so. "Trent became noisy and abusive. I have had considerable trouble with him before. He is a good man when he is sober but is very abusive when he has been drinking." Trent was remanded in custody.

Bruce Thompson, R. R. 2, Lloydstown, and Job Small, R. R. 3, Alliston, both pleaded guilty to driving with defective brakes. Thompson was fined $10 but Small was fined $15 when Constable Lawrence testified that his horn had not been in working condition either. Constable Lawrence laid both charges.
